- Flexible search facility enabling the investigation of prison population by crime, nationality and prison location
- Tracking of prolific offenders
- Automatic matching of warrants
- Volume checking any list of offenders against the prison population
- Visibility of cell and wing sharing arrangements
- Reporting on current electronic tags by local area

About Saadian

Saadian was founded in 2000 with the vision of helping organisations transform business through the better use of information. We provide innovative information delivery solutions, designed to optimise organisational efficiency.

We have over 11 years' experience of working with law enforcement officers in the prisoner intelligence/offender management sector. This experience has led to the development of a range of products designed to help law enforcement agencies prevent crime and reduce re-offending.

We now hold the National Contract and are trusted as the only commercial supplier of prisoner intelligence software, providing a unique and expert service to 95% of UK police departments and law enforcement agencies.

We believe constant innovation is essential to delivering competitive advantage. We pride ourselves on our good reputation and our strong relationships with our customers.

Why PINS?

History and experience show us that correctional facilities can often be a breeding ground for continued criminality, networking amongst offenders and organised crime. The unfortunate truth is that releases from prison, and associations formed during incarceration, often dramatically impact crime activity in the community.

What is PINS?

Prisoner Intelligence Notification System (PINS) is a software solution designed to help law enforcement agencies prevent crimes committed by offenders when they are released from prison. By pro-actively notifying local police and agencies in advance of release, PINS helps them keep on top of known criminals as they re-enter the community. PINS is considered to be vital intelligence software, trusted by over 95% of UK Police Forces.

How it Works?

The PINS software collects Prison and Police data from key sources and automatically cross-references and links historic and current prisoner records. PINS sends critical alerts to intelligence officers detailing key prisoner data changes and advance release notifications.

Nominal View

The nominal view is one central place for each offender where all sentences, warrants, tags and PPO information can be found. The nominal approach facilitates lifetime tracking of an offender as they move in and out of prison across many sentences and tagging orders. Users can access information on each nominal including a summary of their current status and personal information, addresses, cell sharing history and risks/flags associated with the nominal.

Search

Intuitive search capabilities enable users to conduct pro-active intelligence work in prisons. There are three search options available; the first is a quick search, this allows users to search by names, DOBs and ID numbers. It is also possible to search by release information, release dates, offences, areas released to etc. Finally, there is a detailed search which allows the user to search nationality, ethnicity, alerts, age range etc.

My Offenders

PINS users will be able to import a personal list of offenders to track. This list will be matched and updated against the prisoner population on a daily basis. The user will be informed when any of the offenders on their My Offender list arrives in prison, has a major status change (e.g. moves prison.) or is released.
